

METHODS AND COMPOSITIONS FOR HEALING HEART WOUNDS

5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Levels of thyroid hormone can be decreased in a mammal to increase healing of heart wounds. The increased wound healing includes rapid re-epithelialization and recovery of normal architecture and function relative to mammals who have not been 10 treated according to the invention.

PCT/US2013/042150